

Copenhagen Doctoral School
in Cultural Studies

CALL FOR POSTERS

Department of Arts and Cultural Studies

Department of Culture and Identity,
Roskilde University, Denmark

23th November at the University of Copenhagen

Memory and Forgetting in the North Atlantic -Imagological and Postcolonial Perspectives.

1.5 ETCS

A one day Ph.d.- seminar and a small exhibition in Copenhagen at The Department of Arts and Cultural Studies Copenhagen University and European Cultural Studies, Roskilde University. Arranged with the Copenhagen Doctoral School in Cultural Studies at the University of Copenhagen

Doctoral students and scholars are invited to attend a seminar on central interdisciplinary discussions on theoretical, practical, and aesthetic representations of how national stereotypes and national images have emerged in the North Atlantic, both in history and today, with a perspective on memory and forgetting in the North Atlantic. Confirmed speakers include:

Prof. Joep Leerssen, Amsterdam University

Historian, writer and editor Sumarlidi Isleifsson (Leader of the INOR - Iceland and Images of the North project)

Ph.d. and expert in Greelandic contemporary art Jørgen Trondhjem.

Answering questions like: how does the image become a self-image? How can we study stereotypes and characterizations traditionally ascribed to various ethnicities and nationalities? Who is constructed in what way and who has agency in various cultural fields and scholarly disciplines? How can we apply memory studies and imagology as a frame of explanation? How does the image become a self-image and how can we study stereotypes and characterizations traditionally ascribed to various ethnicities and nationalities in various cultural fields and scholarly disciplines?

Free admittance. Registration necessary.

Call for POSTERS:

Doctoral students are encouraged to submit an abstract for a posters in (A3 size) in English on a relevant topic relating the seminar and to receive feedback from experienced readers during the seminar. The abstract of max. 200 words must be submitted no later than October 11th to kimsimon@ruc.dk or gremaud@hum.ku.dk (ECTS: 1,5 - only with submission of poster).

